Portland Sage Singers Announce Inaugural Concert at The Reser: "It's Our Time"

Portland, OR – The Portland Sage Singers, a new and empowering chorus of adults aged 55 and older, proudly announces its inaugural concert, It's Our Time, taking place on June 26, 2025 at the Patricia Reser Center for the Arts.

Led by legendary conductor and LGBTQIA+ arts advocate Dr. Tim Seelig, this debut performance marks a powerful entry into Portland's cultural scene. Dr. Seelig, renowned for his decades-long leadership of the San Francisco Gay Men's Chorus and now an internationally sought-after conductor and speaker, brings his signature blend of artistic excellence, authenticity, and joyful advocacy to this brand-new ensemble.

It's Our Time is more than a concert—it's a celebration of elderhood, resilience, humor, and pride. The program opens with Stephen Sondheim's anthem It's Our Time, setting the tone for an emotional journey through genres and generations, from J.S. Bach to Whitney Houston. Highlights include:

- World premieres of Organ Recital by Los Angeles composer Dave Volpe, and Senior Psalm by Daniel Gawthrop.
- Songs of empowerment like Holly Near's I Ain't Afraid and Labi Siffre's Something Inside So Strong.
- Moving ballads like Secret Love and Stephen Schwartz's In Whatever Time We Have.
- A rousing finale with Andrew Lippa's We Are Survivors, from Unbreakable.

With laughter, honesty, and heart, the Portland Sage Singers celebrate life's second act and remind us all that it's not just Our Time—it's high time.

This milestone performance is made possible through generous inaugural sponsorship by AARP and supporting sponsorship from Howard S. Wright.

Tickets are on sale now through the Reser Center box office. For more information, visit https://portlandsagesingers.org/events/.
